

Mickey Fried

1921-1987

For many years, Mickey and Sylvia Fried were a dynamic force at Oheb Shalom Congregation, giving of their expertise and generosity. Since Mickey's untimely passing, Sylvia has continued the tradition of devotion to Jewish life, education and philanthropy they established together.

Mickey Fried was born in Brooklyn, New York and was president of Roytex, Inc., a textile company. Deeply committed to the Jewish community and Jewish education, he was past president of Oheb Shalom Congregation, a member of the board of the Jewish Education Association, and devoted to the United Jewish Communities of MetroWest. He was a person of great generosity who lived a sensitive, ethical life in the real world.

In 1988, Mickey's family provided a generous endowment for our congregation's nursery school. That endowment has enabled the school to grow and prosper over the past 18 years. In so doing, the values and legacy of Mickey Fried live on.
